CLAIM PROFITS ARE GONE

Increase in Wheat Makes It Impossible to Furnish Loaves of the Size Prescribed by Law-Must Add to Price or Cut Down Quantity-Rise in Cost of Flour the Cause.

That the price of bread will advance from five cents to probably six or seven cents a loaf in the near future is inevitable, according to statements made by the leading bakers of the city yesterday. It is also likely that the cost of all other commodities in which wheat is a factor will go up in price, or else the articles themselves will be reduced

The bakers claim that at the present cost of flour it is impossible to bake bread in loaves the size prescribed by law, sell them at five cents a loaf, and Of Columbia make a profit. The managers of many of the smaller bakeries declare that unless an advance in the price of bread comes within the next few weeks, they will be compelled to shut down.

Due to Wheat Price.

The scarcity of wheat and its high price on the market are the causes, in the opinion of one of the leading bakers, for the advance in the price of bread both of which conditions he attributes to the heavy export of wheat from this country to Europe, and not to speculations. The report of the wheat brokers throughout the country show the European wheat crops to be much smaller than the requirements and considerable under normal, and that those countries are, in consequence thereof, looking to this country for the bulk of their wants. The reports also show that the wheat crop of this country is only 625,000,000 bushels this year, as against 735,000,000 bushels in 1906; a difference of 110,000,000 bushels of the 1906 crop were exported ganization. from this country to Europe last year, The orde and yet that entire crop was absorbed, and that approximately 600,000,000 bushels of this year's crop are being sent to Europe weekly is held to be an additional argument in favor of an advancement in price in the near future.

Rapid Rise in Flour.

The bakers also claim that flour could be bought from the mills last year at $4.25 a barrel, while $5.95 a barrel is the present quotation.

Under the prevailing conditions it is impossible to speculate on just how soon the advancement in price will occur, but it is the opinion of the majority of bakers that the time is not distant if the tremendous export of wheat from this coun-
